Performance Work Statement (PWS)

for

Near East South Asia Center for Strategic Studies

General Support Contract

August 30, 2006

1. General: The contractor shall provide qualified personnel to perform tasks in support of the Department of Defense (DoD) Near East South Asia Center for Strategic Studies (NESA) in accordance with this PWS.

Tasks under the contract will be performed at Government owned facilities or Government leased facilities in the Continental United States (CONUS) and Outside CONUS (OCONUS) locations, to include hotels contracted for NESA events. Rented or leased spaces will be considered NESA Center facilities for the purpose of the contract. The NESA Center is currently located at the United States (U.S.) Coast Guard Headquarters, 2100 Second Street, S.W, Suite 4308, Washington, DC 20593. The contractor will perform the tasks at the NESA offices and other sites as designated by program needs. Contractor offices must be located in the greater Washington, DC, metropolitan area.

2. Background: Launched in October 2000, the NESA Center's mission is to enhance stability in the Near East and in South Asia by providing an academic environment where strategic issues can be addressed, understanding deepened, partnerships fostered, defense-related decision-making improved, and cooperation strengthened among military and civilian leaders from the region and the United States.

The Center builds on the strong bilateral relationships between the United States and countries in the NESAs region by focusing on a multilateral approach to addressing regional security concerns and issues. It is designed to meet the knowledge needs of national security professionals by providing a forum for rigorous examination of the challenges that shape the security environment of the region. The Center provides a focal point where national decision makers can gather to exchange ideas and explore tools for cooperative problem solving.

The core curriculum will examine four broad themes: regional strategic issues; the changing strategic environment; elements of security decision making; and tools for enhancing regional security.

Participation is open to military and official civilian representatives from all countries in the NESAs region with which the U.S. government maintains formal diplomatic relations, non-NESA countries that have strategic interests in the region, and U.S. participants. Participants are nominated by their governments. The twenty-one nations participating from the region include: Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Egypt, Israel, Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Oman, United Arab Emirates, Qatar, Bahrain, Kuwait, Pakistan, India, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Nepal and the Maldives.

Further information on the NESAs Center can be found at their website (www.ndu.edu/NESA).

3. Scope: The contractor will perform tasks in the design and implementation of events that will enable the NESAs Center to conduct its current programs and other programs that will be developed. The NESAs Center's programs will include, but are not limited to those listed in Annex A.

The tasks listed are those that are currently identified. During the course of the contract these tasks may be adjusted in coordination with the contractor to encompass additional similar tasks or to reduce the scope of contractor provided support services. The Government shall provide the contractor with 60 days written notice before significantly reducing the scope of the services or functions required under the contract.

4. Approach: The contractor will conduct business in a fashion that is consistent with Federal and DoD regulations. The contractor shall provide technically qualified, experienced, international policy, operations, administrative, logistics and support analysis services to support the detailed planning, organizing, coordinating and execution of numerous conferences, seminars and international programs as well as operation of the ongoing policy and outreach missions as specified in this Performance Work Statement. Experience working with senior government and military personnel is desirable and experience working within the Department of Defense is desirable. The contractor will respond to the Contracting Officer's Representative (COR), for policy and program guidance.

The contractor shall assign a Project Manager who has had substantive experience in an operational or training environment to manage personnel and operations in support of this PWS. Experience in at least two of the following areas is desirable: personnel management; administration; logistics planning and management; protocol; public affairs; or political-military affairs. The Project Manager shall possess the highest standards of personal deportment, judgment, demonstrated organizational abilities, and outstanding communications skills. It is essential that the Project Manager have a working knowledge of the Washington, DC diplomatic and military organizations and cultures, and the ability to interact with senior foreign representatives. The Project Manager must be familiar with the NESAs region, Near East and South Asia. The Project Manager acts as the single point of contact for all activities with the COR for this contract. The COR is the point of contact for the Project Manager. The COR will provide the contractor with the materials and information necessary for the proper performance of the tasks under the contract, to include: schedules, syllabi, handbooks and guidelines. The Project Manager shall participate in all the critique sessions, in process reviews, and after action reviews and "hot washes" that are conducted in the preparation for, during, or after any event. ANNEX A

Planned Conferences and Seminars

ANNEX A

Executive Seminar	The Executive Seminar (held in Washington, DC) for approximately 42 participants is an intense three-week program intended to stimulate and direct an exchange on strategic issues affecting the Near East South Asia region among national security professionals. The overall program addresses a broad range of issues, including: the current and future regional strategic environment; the American national security structure and process; the transformation in military affairs; counter-terrorism; the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction; and disaster management. The Seminar's participants include military and civilian officials from the NESAs region.
Senior Executive Seminar	The purpose of the Senior Executive Seminar (held in Washington, DC) for approximately 42 participants is to bring flag-level military officers and their civilian counterparts (ambassadors and assistant ministers) from the NESAs region to Washington for a ten-day workshop focusing on key foreign policy issues currently facing the region. This is a unique forum insofar as it provides senior representatives from Morocco to Bangladesh -- including Indians/Pakistanis, Arabs/Israelis, as well as Iraqis and Afghans -- an opportunity to discuss strategic issues among these countries, and between them and the United States. A key objective for the Senior Executive Seminar is to provide these national security professionals with an extended opportunity to discuss current security issues of mutual concern with top-level U.S. officials. In addition to State, they will visit the Pentagon, the White House/NSC, and Capitol Hill.
Combating Terrorism (CT) Executive Seminar	The two-week seminar on Combating Terrorism (held in Washington, DC) for approximately 42 participants, focusing on key themes such as: defining the regional terrorist threat; assessing regional, sub-regional, and national responses; tools, strategies and best practices for combating terrorism; strategies for enhancing national and regional cooperation; and a case study/capstone experience. The goals and objectives of this program include the development of a global cadre of emerging counterterrorism leaders with a broad regional appreciation of the terrorist threat. Alumni of this program will be able to tap into the broader existing NESAs Center Alumni Network, while maintaining a more narrow active fellowship among seminar participants on CT issues as well.
Other Seminars in Washington	Periodic seminars for approximately 42 participants which may cover at least two or more hours covering NESAs issues. These events would be open to the foreign embassies in DC, as well as International Fellows at NDU.
Washington Seminar Series	Monthly two-hour seminar for approximately 42 participants on NESAs region strategic issues of particular timeliness. These events would be open to the foreign embassies in DC, as well as International Fellows at NDU.
Border Security Workshops	A two-day workshop in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany at the Marshal Center for Strategic Studies involving 25 participants. The goal of this workshop is to promote discussion among officials on the best approaches to border security from the strategic, practical, and technological perspectives. Unlike other NESAs center seminars, this workshop is intended primarily for those individuals directly responsible for the operation of their respective country's border security program, including from the ministries of defense, interior, and foreign affairs, as well as customs and other related agencies. Participants will review various border problems states are facing, share information about institutional arrangements and procedures for managing the flow of people and goods across frontiers while reducing vulnerabilities, and explore cooperative approaches. The impetus for the workshop is the recognition that border control has become an increasingly important and challenging security issue to all nations.
Bi-Lateral Workshops	These 2-3 day workshops for approximately 50 participants at a mid/senior level from the host country will take place in the region at the request of the US Embassy in to examine regional issues and focus, in particular, on items that NESAs Center, the US Country Team and the host nation agree on. This program provides obvious opportunities to influence the senior officials and future leaders in the seminar itself, as well as numerous side meetings with key government officials, and studies centers in the country.

Regional/Sub-Regional Seminars	Seminars will consist of 20 participants from 10-12 Centers, meeting in region for a two-day meeting to review work products prior to the upcoming plenary meetings. Working with counterpart institutions, the NESACenter helped establish a “Regional Network of Strategic Studies Centers” in the Near East and South Asia region. This Network’s goal is to expand the strategic dialogue among institutions throughout the region, in response to regional suggestions for more avenues of dialogue and cooperation in meeting security challenges.
Regional Network of Strategic Studies Centers CT Working Group	Working with counterpart institutions, the NESACenter helped establish a “Regional Network of Strategic Studies Centers” in the Near East and South Asia region. This Network’s goal is to expand the strategic dialogue among institutions throughout the region, in response to regional suggestions for more avenues of dialogue and cooperation in meeting security challenges. This CT Working Group will consist of 25 participants from 14-15 Centers meeting in Morocco for a two-day meeting to review work products prior to the upcoming plenary meetings.
Alumni Program	The web outreach effort is for alumni as well as the NESACenter policy community in the U.S. and the region. The site is the focal point of the Center's effort to keep in touch with its alumni and keep alumni connected with each other, including promoting dialogue on regional security issues. The web-based Alumni Outreach program involves daily maintenance and growth of a database of articles and research resources; daily/weekly e-mails of selected readings, US policy statements, regional news, and Center updates; moderated discussion boards; and alumni communication and networking tools. The Alumni Chapters Program oversees creation, and support for NESACenter alumni chapters in the region. Program operations include a variety of assistance, including writing and production of establishment documents through in-country project oversight. Alumni Outreach Centers enable NESACenter alumni to make use of valuable resources provided by NDU and the NESACenter. These include Information Technology in the form of hardware/software packages, and technical support, access to online resources, data on NESACenter Alumni, and contacts around the world. Continuing education will be offered to alumni on: a one-country, half-day basis featuring traveling NESACenter faculty and staff; a multi-day, bilateral basis featuring NESACenter and contract faculty and staff; and a multi-day, sub regional basis featuring NESACenter, contract, and co-host faculty and staff. Continuing education is offered via presentation, panel discussion, and VTC. A gathering of NESACenter alumni from across the region on an annual basis would be beneficial, with the first such meeting having been held in Istanbul in November 2005. Such meetings would bring together numerous well-positioned alumni to re-connect with each other and familiarize them with tools that we have created for continued engagement with each other. Smaller sessions on an ad hoc basis would also allow for more focused discussion of sub-regional issues.
SSTR/PRT/ Capacity Building	The Defense Planners Workshops for up to 50 participants support the preparation of future mid- and senior-level military and civilian leaders of the security institutions to manage and lead the Ministry of Defense and Joint Force Headquarters. The Workshops emphasize development of a national security strategy, defense resource allocation, civil-military relations, and the role of military forces in democratic society. They impart specific tools, methods or functional examples that officials will need to perform their duties such as manpower control resource planning and programming and budget control. At the conclusion of the workshops, participants will understand the process by which defense planners allocate fiscal and manpower resources to create, employ, and sustain forces to support a defined national security strategy. In addition, they will have an appreciation of their nation’s strategic situation and understand the process by which broad national security policy guidance is used to formulate a viable national security strategy.

OSD Research/ Faculty Lecture Tour	These tours are a research and outreach opportunity for NESACenter faculty, often combined with an alumni or Network event. Allows faculty the ability to conduct research, attend speaking engagements and conferences, and maintain professional institutional relationships. NESACenter faculty members are required to conduct lecture tours in the NESACenter region (3-4 countries per tour) where they present findings from their latest research. These lectures serve as a means to engage NESACenter alumni, strategic study centers, defense colleges, universities, and other interested parties.
GWOT Listening Workshop	This event is held in CONUS or in the region for usually 3 days for 20 participants. The Global War On Terror Listening Workshop is a continuation of an event series begun in 2005, intended to gather feedback from thought leaders in the NESACenter region on the USG GWOT strategy, including written feedback, which can be published. The end result will be an out brief to US policy officials on the group’s analysis of what is and is not working in our GWOT strategy.

The Government may reject any or all offers if such action is in the public interest; accept other than the lowest offer; and waive informalities and minor irregularities in offers received.

RESPONSES FROM INDUSTRY

This solicitation is hereby amended to respond to industry questions. All other terms and conditions remain unchanged.

Question 1: What is the CEILING PRICE?

Response: It is the not to exceed amount.

Question 2: Why isn't a total estimated price and ceiling price requested for ITEM NUMBERS 0022, 0023, 0024, 0025, 0026, 0027, 0028, 0029, 0030, 0031, 0032 and 0033? This same question applies to the OPTION YEARS????

Response: ITEM NUMBERS 0022 thru 0033 and option should have a total estimate price and ceiling price.

Question 3: Is the NET AMOUNT requested in ITEM NUMBER 0033 the total of ITEM NUMBERS 0001 through 0033?

Response: No: it is the net amount for CLIN 0033. But a line will be added for the total estimated amount of ITEM NUMBERS 0001 through 0033?

Question 4: ANNEX A provides the Planned Conferences and Seminars. Will the NESA Contractor be responsible for providing transport (Air/Land) and hotel accommodations for the number of participants specified in each Conference and/or Seminar? Example, for the Regional Network of Strategic Studies Centers Democracy and Government Studies (D&G) Working Group, how many participants will the NESA contractor be responsible for funding? The paragraph specifies: "This D&G Working Group will consist of 20 participants from 10-12 Centers meeting in Amman, Jordan for a two-day meeting. How do I determine how many folks from the NESA Center to provide a cost estimate to cover airline tickets, hotel reservations, per diem, etc.? The same questions applies for the other Conferences and Seminars.

Response: The majority of the time the participants' hotel and transportation travel arrangements will be made using Invitational Travel Orders with a fund cite from NESA Center and the travel arrangements made by the US Embassy in their country. If the government has a requirement for the contractor to provide transportation and/or hotel support then it will be on an ODC basis so the amount does not need to be addressing this in their cost estimate.

The NESA Contractor will be responsible for providing transportation (Air/Land) and hotel accommodations for participants on some occasions. Normally for NESA events the contractor will be responsible for providing transportation (Air/Land) and hotel accommodations for one or two participants, and one or two guest speakers. This section is a direct cost and should not be held to the standard of definitive estimates because the NESACenter will make a determination shortly before the event as to whether or not it will use the services of the Contractor or try to make arrangements with the Embassy at the overseas location.

Question 5: NESACenter has been addressing a desire to perform more Outreach and Strategic Communications, however, I don't see mention in the PWS. Has Outreach and Strategic Communications been overlooked?

Response: The reference to this question is located in the following area of the PWS:

The team members in CLIN 1 as seen below and CLIN 2 as seen below will provide required Outreach and Strategic Communications. There will be ODC costs in Alumni events, CLIN 3, called GWOT Listening and Media Training and also on Annex "A" NESACalendar. Media training is an important part of Strategic Communications.
